Administration & Service

Portrait: For a (digital) coffee with... Ute Arnold

The HU's Conflict Counselling Service recommends itself as the first point of contact for those seeking help and supports them in their search for solutions in cases of conflict. Ute Arnold, who works in the Information Department of the Grimm Centre, has been part of the counselling team since 2018. "I observe conflicts in everyday work life again and again and have the feeling that they are often held out for too long," she explains her motivation to get involved in this area. Working in conflict counselling requires knowledge of human nature, tact and the ability to remain impartial. Currently, the HU conflict counsellors are looking for support and another person who would like to join the team. Expressions of interest are still possible until the end of this week.

Prevention: flu vaccinations at the Charité without registration

Corona protection measures such as mandatory masks and distance rules also protect against contracting the flu. After the measures were relaxed, however, infectious diseases physicians expect that many people could now catch the flu again. Vaccination is recommended for older people and those with previous illnesses. As every year, employees and students of the HU can be vaccinated at the Charité in Mitte and at the Virchow Clinic on certain dates without prior registration.

Energy conservation measures: Questions, answers and guidelines

Can there be restrictions on attendance? What can employees do to save on heating? Will the hot water supply also be restricted? Answers to important questions about energy saving and a guide to the careful use of energy can be found on the intranet and on the websites of the Technical Department. The HU must save at least ten per cent of its energy consumption, that is the Berlin Senate's target for Berlin's universities. This can only be achieved if all Humboldtians, staff and students alike, are committed.

Materials Research: Einstein Professorship for Chemist Stefan Hecht

Chemist Stefan Hecht was already a professor at HU's Institute of Chemistry from 2006 to 2019. Since 2019, he has been Scientific Director at the Leibniz Institute for Interactive Materials in Aachen, until recently associated with the chair of Macromolecular Chemistry at RWTH Aachen University. Now Hecht has returned to the HU as an Einstein Professor to strengthen Berlin's materials sciences. The renowned chemist is dedicated to researching new materials with improved properties and developing them to technological maturity, for example to minimise energy consumption and close material cycles.
